

A Special Workshop Offered by IUPUI's Program Review and Assessment Committee:
Trends in Assessment: Ideas, Opportunities, and Issues for Higher Education
Thursday, November 21, 2019, 1:30—3:00pm, Campus Center Room 450 B/C
Co-facilitated by Stephen P. Hundley and Susan Kahn, Planning and Institutional Improvement

“Each of the chapters contained herein is worth reading by itself, but I hope that readers will take the time to consume all of the chapters in order to see meta-trends taking shape in various settings—and to observe as well the growing sophistication of assessment practices as they evolve to fit the ever-changing contexts of higher education.”

—From the foreword by Trudy W. Banta

Join us for a special workshop and “release party” as we recognize and celebrate the many IUPUI colleagues contributing to the new Stylus Publishing volume, Trends in Assessment: Ideas, Opportunities, and Issues for Higher Education (October 2019). Co-edited by Stephen P. Hundley and Susan Kahn, the volume includes contributions from 46 individuals representing an array of assessment, improvement, and higher education perspectives. Its content is informed, in part, by the IUPUI-hosted Assessment Institute in Indianapolis, now the nation’s oldest and largest event of its type. Trends in Assessment is debuting at this year’s Assessment Institute, October 13—15, 2019.

Trends in Assessment offers readers an overview of enduring and emerging assessment concepts and approaches. It includes chapters by nationally recognized experts who describe how emerging assessment trends and ideas apply to a variety of settings, programs, and pedagogies, including:

- Community Engagement
- ePortfolios
- Faculty Development
- Global Learning
- Graduate and Professional Education
- High-Impact Practices
- Learning Improvement and Innovation
- Assessment Trends from NILOA
- STEM
- Student Affairs Programs and Services

This workshop will identify recurring themes and meta-trends in Trends in Assessment, and provide participants an opportunity to examine and discuss how these themes and trends are implemented and advanced in their particular contexts. IUPUI contributors to Trends in Assessment will also discuss their perspectives. All members of the IUPUI community are welcome to participate.

So that we may arrange sufficient materials for the workshop, please RSVP by Friday, November 8, 2019, by sending an email with name and contact information to Linda Durr (ldurr@iupui.edu).

Thank you.
